The rapids and eddies immediately north of the Meteline Falls Bridge constitute a safety hazard, for some boaters, especially at low water levels when both a whirlpool and a wall of water form between large rocks. The water levels fluctuate daily. Inexperienced boaters may prefer to portage around the falls due to the high velocity, turbulent water. Boaters who want to paddle the Canyon Reach and avoid the rapids can take out at Meteline Waterfront Park and shuttle to the put in at Boundary Dam Boat Launch.
